DESTROYED BY A BOMB

Submarine Crew Place Explosive Aboard After Crew Had Abandoned Ship—Other Ship Loses Reported.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Four steamers aggregating 9,740 tons, are on today's list of vessels sunk as a result of the new submarine blockade measures. Neutral vessels are again figuring in the sinking reported. One of today's announced victims of submarine operations was a Dutch and another Norwegian. A Russian and British steamer were the other two. In addition a British trawler was sunk.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Sinking by a German submarine of the Swedish steamer Skogland, 1,800 tons, which had five Americans aboard, after the crew had been given ten minutes to take to their boats, was reported by Consul General Hurst at Barcelona, Spain, in a message today to the state department. No one was injured and the crew landed safely at Tarragona, Spain.

Skogland was stopped in the Mediterranean by a submarine six miles south of Tarragona, Spain, at 4:30 a. m. February 18, Mr. Hurst reported. The crew was given ten minutes to take to their boats. As the crew left the ship, the sailors from the submarine went aboard and placed a bomb which was exploded and destroyed the ship. The crew landed at Tarragona after seventeen hours in their boats.

WAR DEPLETES FOOD SUPPLY OF WORLD

Madison, Feb. 22.—The net results of thirty months of "war economics," the chief features of which are in the supply of food, textiles and other necessities, are being discussed today by the United States Food Administration. The department of economics told the state industrial and commercial congress this morning.

Scarcity is upon us in famine and in the supply of food, which is being depleted by the war. The great needs of the scarcity, actual and threatened, affords a very real and logical and adequate explanation of the high prices of food and other necessities, declared Professor Hess.

To avert an impending scarcity of food and further price advances, Professor Hess suggested four remedies: First: Increased production of food products.

Second: Improved distribution. Third: Decreased and more efficient consumption. Fourth: Embargo legislation and reduction of exports.

Price changes in the United States from November, 1915, to January, 1917, show an advance of forty-seven percent in wholesale prices, and perhaps thirty percent in retail prices, said Professor Hess. He predicted that further increase of retail prices for food and other necessities would be inevitable.

Scarcity of goods and of gold is the cause of high prices, and the fact that gold supply is stored in the United States, does not alter the situation, because the world market is a world market. The withdrawal of thirty or forty million men from productive occupations for war purposes, under the production of crops in the United States, wheat failures in Canada and Argentina and impossibility to market the Russian crop are reasons for the scarcity of goods, said Professor Hess.

CONFERENCE CALLED TO FIX A SCALE OF NEWS PRINT PRICES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, Feb. 22.—News print manufacturers are arriving here today for conferences with the federal trade commission on a proposal that the commission fix news print prices for a period of six months. Manufacturers representing about one-third of the production of United States and Canada have signed the proposal. Those coming did not join in the suggestion and are here at the request of the commission which wishes their views on it.

Restoration of free competition in news print paper manufacture is the aim of the commission. It accepts the proposal, it will work with that purpose in view. At the end of six months the commission feels that the condition in news print industry will so have been shaped that unrestrained competition will insure fair and equitable prices.

Acceptance of the proposal hinges on the attitude of the manufacturers, who are arriving here. Those who already have signed the proposal, represent about 30 per cent of the news print output of United States and Canada. Their surrender in the face of criminal indictment, officials believe, will break the news print market and force prices to equitable level whether manufacturers join in or not.

Many difficulties are seen in putting any price fixing plan into operation. If the cost of production is the same in all mills it would be a comparatively simple matter, and a flat rate will be put on paper, but costs are different in all mills, and the question of redistribution also presents a puzzle. The commission probably would work out some arrangement whereby newspapers, as far as possible, would purchase their news prints from the nearest mill and thereby cut freight rates to a minimum.

ICY FLOODS INVADE RUSSIAN CAMP ON THE FRENCH FRONT

A glimpse of the Russian front line in northern France.

The rigors of the present winter are unsurpassed in the memories of most of the fighting men in the trenches along the battle fronts in France. To the continual falls of snow has been added the most biting cold, a combination that makes progress along the fronts almost impossible. In the trenches and at the various camps floods have become so common that the men are wearing especially made boots and often keep watch in a foot of icy water.

DECLARES CHICAGO BOARD WANTS CARS FOR GRAIN EXPORTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

New York, Feb. 22.—The American Railway Association issued a statement here today on behalf of its car service commission which is co-operating with interstate commerce commission in the car shortage situation in reply to the request made upon the eastern railroads yesterday by J. H. Griffin, president of the Chicago board of trade, that embargo be imposed upon all eastbound commodities, except fuel and food stuffs.

The association's statement asserts that representatives of the Chicago board of trade, that embargo commodities, but that the grain men "had shown no emergency." It was asserted to the commission, the statement says, that fifty per cent of the cars Chicago needed, were for export grain.

Taft Cites Words of Washington To Urge Preparedness

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Baltimore, Feb. 22.—The birthday of George Washington never comes without finding in our national affairs an issue and sometimes a crisis in the meeting of which we can derive aid from Washington's advice, his experience or his action, former President William Howard Taft, declared here today at the annual commemoration day exercises of Johns Hopkins University.

Need for Preparedness. "As we stand on the brink of hostilities with Germany and Austria," Mr. Taft added, "his injunction to the American people that the best road of securing peace is proper preparation for war, comes home to us."

Mr. Taft spoke of the growth of this country's railway system and said: "The inadequacy of our rail system to meet demands of our rapidly increasing population and the volume of transportation that our foreign trade demands and to meet the requirements of a state of war which we face, is startling. We have had many warnings from railroad men as to what would occur under conditions like the present. Their warnings are now being vindicated. The embargoes which the railroads have been obliged to 'disclose on legal grounds' are mathematical demonstrations of how far short is our arterial system of interstate commerce."

Touches on Prohibition. Referring to national prohibition, the former president said he did not want to put himself in opposition to prohibition in states where a majority of the people favored it. He thought it fair however, to "cite instances of failure in this regard in some parts of such states as an apriori argument to show the failure and demoralizing failure that attend an attempt by the national government to enforce prohibition in what are now non-prohibition states."

He declared he favored local option.

WHITE STAR LINER DAMAGED BY MINE TOWED BACK TO PORT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

New York, Feb. 22.—Reports that the big White Star Liner Celtic had hit a mine Feb. 14 and was towed back into Liverpool in a damaged condition, were brought here today by passengers on the American liner steamship Philadelphia also from that port. The Philadelphia, the Celtic, however, had been damaged by passengers said, sailing about thirty minutes after the Celtic and British steamship Canada, a troop ship.

Wireless calls from the Celtic asking for aid are said to have been fixed up by the radio operators on the American liner, which however, did not respond as the Canada was already reported to have reached here. The Celtic, it was said, towed by Celtic, had been damaged. An effort was made to keep the report secret in fear of alarming the Philadelphia's passengers, but it leaked out after the danger zone had been passed.

The Celtic was believed, carried no passengers. She was a vessel of 21,000 and was last reported as having arrived in Liverpool on an unnamed date after leaving here January 2.

REPLY OF AUSTRIA CERTAIN TO BRING A BREAK WITH U. S.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Berne, via Paris, Feb. 22.—Austria's reply to the United States defining her position in the submarine war, is known in Berlin, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung, which predicts that a breach of relations between Washington and Vienna is inevitable. The paper's correspondent at Berlin says:

"The memorandum which President Wilson has sent to the Vienna government, leaves no doubt that the breach of relations between the United States and Germany will soon be followed by a breach with Austria-Hungary. President Wilson wishes to be clearly told whether the Austro-Hungarian government has withdrawn its earlier declaration regarding the conduct of submarine warfare. Really, one ought to think the explanation given by Austria-Hungary at the beginning of the unrestricted submarine warfare, to the effect that from February 1 all ocean traffic in blockaded zones will be prevented by all means should not be capable of misconception. But in his dealings with the central powers, President Wilson is always painfully exact."

It is true that we have not heard that he ever sent cautions, let alone warnings, to the entente for torpedoing Austrian or German ships without inspiring, but when Germany or Austria do the same thing, President Wilson raises his voice in the name of humanity and civilization. The Austro-Hungarian government, which thrilled when this answer is known, Mr. Wilson will be able to draw his conclusion therefrom, and will break off relations."

MANY BAPTISTS AT CLINTON MEETING

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Clinton, February 21.—The Baptist church has just closed an evangelistic conference which drew to the city a large number of people from all over the county and helped to all who were fortunate enough to attend. There were five sessions, running through Monday and Tuesday, and Wednesday, and a large number of people were present, besides a fair local attendance. Dr. H. F. Stiwell, of Cleveland was the principal speaker and brought messages that thrilled and inspired his hearers. His wide experience in an evangelistic church, coupled with his rare spiritual insight, and consecration made his message practical as well as lofty. "What God can do with a consecrated church" will not soon be forgotten. He merely told the story of an old Polish couple in the east who were greatly exercised over the spiritual poverty of the neighborhood. How they prayed and worked and believed, in the face of the poverty of the spiritual awakening swept over that whole district. "If God can do that with an ignorant old couple" said the speaker, "ought he not to do with your church?"

Dr. Hulbert and Rev. McKinney also spoke on several subjects, as for instance "Help and Hindrance to Revival," "The Singing by Professor and Mrs. Thonnes on Monday afternoon and evening was also greatly enjoyed and appreciated. Those present from out of town were Dr. H. F. Stiwell, Cleveland; Dr. D. W. Hulbert, Rev. E. R. MacKinney, Milwaukee; Prof. and Mrs. B. A. Thonnes, Rev. William P. Cross, Evansville; Rev. G. G. WOMEN LEAD FOOD RIOTS IN THE EAST

FURTHER DISTURBANCES OCCUR TODAY IN NEW YORK AND PHILADELPHIA.—ONE WOMAN HURT.

TO BOYCOTT DEALERS

Pour Kerosene on Meat and Vegetables Displayed by Dealers and Upset Puscarts of Street Venders.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

New York, Feb. 22.—Housewives continued their demonstrations against the high cost of living here today. Police reserves suppressed outbreaks in various parts of the city. Thousands of pushcarts were overturned, the contents destroyed, and the owners attacked. Two women were arrested, charged with assault and later released. Hundreds of women with babies in their arms acted as pickets before provision stores in an effort to establish a boycott.

A magistrate in suspending sentence on one offender, gave warning that hereafter he would send disturbers to jail. "You have had a number of you women before me," he said, "and not one of you have impressed me as though you were starving."

Woman Hurt in Disorder. Philadelphia, Feb. 22.—Disorderly scenes occurred in the southeastern part of the city, populated largely by people of foreign birth today, when bands of women made demonstrations against dealers that have raised food prices. In a melee between a crowd of women and others attracted to one of the streets where stores were being trampled upon and taken to a hospital with a broken leg. The police succeeded in dispersing the crowd without any serious injury being done. Minor disorders occurred in other streets of foreign quarters.

Today's demonstrations are the result of a meeting of women at which it was decided to boycott dealers who increased prices. Women carrying bottles containing kerosene are alleged to have poured the oil on meats, fish and vegetables displayed by street dealers, and a woman was charged with setting their pushcarts.

Heavy Police Guard. Philadelphia, Feb. 22.—A large detail of police today guarded the streets in the vicinity of sugar refineries where one man was killed, and more than dozen persons injured last night in a riot between strikers and the sympathizers, and the police. Men who went to work at the Franklin and McCahan Refinery where there has been a strike for several weeks were not permitted to congregate near the scenes of last night's trouble.

Only one arrest—that of a woman—was made last night. She was charged with inciting to riot. Vain efforts have been made by mediators from the Pennsylvania state department of labor and industry to bring about a settlement of the strike which effects three refineries here. The strikers demand an increase of several cents an hour but the sugar companies have refused to accede to their demands. They could not do so, without increasing the price of sugar.

INCREASE SEEN IN PANAMA TOLLS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Panama, Feb. 22.—Traffic statistics for the Panama Canal show that the number of ocean-going ships which made the transit through the canal in the calendar year 1916 was 1,253. Their aggregate gross tonnage was 3,332,865 tons, and they carried a total of 4,931,911 tons of cargo.

The number of ships was 7 per cent greater than in 1915, but not tonnage. Tonnage was 1 per cent less than 1915. The two years had about the same bulk of traffic, and both saw the canal closed for a period of three and a half months.

The tolls collected in 1916 were $3,677,935.60, which was not equal to the expenses. The ships in the United States coastwise trade were slightly over 3 per cent of the aggregate tonnage in 1916. In 1915 they were one-fourth of all the traffic, and in 1914 they constituted the most of the former coastwise ships have been devoted to the more profitable foreign trade.

THOUGHTS TO THINK ABOUT.

Greed ends in gratitude, only when it gets all the helping hand it doesn't put all in greed's sack, gets only revenge back.

True candor in man's thought will save him from criticizing his competitors; man but dwarfs himself by damning his rivals.

Man is not the child of earth but that of eternal birth; man is immortal and is only here to learn pain and then return to his home again.

No one who suffers chance to choose for him can chase success successfully; chance is but a zig-zag lane to nowhere.

Every Farm a Factory

THE OPPORTUNITY OF THE TOWN LIES IN THE COUNTRY.

By PROF. P. G. HOLDEN.

THE opportunity of the town lies in the country. The country can get along without the town, but no town ever has or ever will be permanently prosperous where the land is poor. The town is built on farm profits; on what farmers produce in excess of their home needs. In fact, towns are consumers, not real producers. Towns are the natural evolution and outgrowth of necessity—places to store and distribute the world's surplus products through the channels of commerce. There is but one road to permanent city building—that road leads to the farm. Business is so sympathetic, so sensitive to crop production, that the forecast of a poor wheat or corn crop affects the markets of the world. When the harvest fields smile, towns wax fat, and factories increase the pay roll. Corn, wheat, and hay, beef, pork, and poultry—these are the soil builders, the home builders, the builders of great cities.

The old fashioned Chamber of Commerce, with its cash bonuses and free factory sites, is rapidly passing away. Instead of grabbing business from each other we must realize that our opportunities lie hidden in the fertility of the soil. Towns and cities are beginning to look to the country, out to the fields of growing corn, wheat and cotton for their real prosperity. A successful hay campaign will bring fortunes to the town. Hay means beef and pork, which beckon the packing house and storage plant. More corn means cereal mills, glucose factories, starch factories. Flour mills locate in wheat producing sections. Creameries follow the dairy cow, and the truck patch calls for the canning factory.

Let us have more Chambers of Commerce and agriculture. Let us create wealth from the opportunities at home, and not subtract it from other communities.

We must not forget that every farm is a factory, and that in every state there are thousands of these factories which need our best thought and effort to make them productive.

"DRYS" ATTACK AGRICULTURE HEAD

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, Feb. 22.—"Strength of Britain Movement," which is the official title of the organization conducting the prohibition campaign, is attacking Mr. Prothero, the new president of the board of agriculture in the recently pointed out that if the brewers were suppressed farmers would suffer a considerable loss, because they were now making valuable use of the residue of brewery grains as a food for cows.

The brewers seized upon Mr. Prothero's words as an official defense of their industry and with full page advertisements they have been giving the most extensive publicity to the slogan "The more beer brewed the greater the supply of milk." After quoting Mr. Prothero's remark, the advertisements make it appear that the consumption of beer has become a patriotic duty since the more brewed the more food there would be for the cows, and the more food there would be for the babies. Among the bipartisanly inclined "Let's Help Save the Babies" has already become a facetious equivalent for an invitation to imbibe.

The "Strength of Britain Movement" has consequently attacked Mr. Prothero in a big type display advertisement. It says: "The brewers do not make milk; they destroy it and make it dangerous. The brewers quote Mr. Prothero, but Mr. Prothero is contradicted by his own department. If he will look at No. 70 leaflet of the board of agriculture, he will find that the expenditure on grain contains one-fifth of the value of the barley, so that the brewer robs the cattle of four-fifths. The good farmer does not use brewers' grains for cattle; they are sold to the brewers for the cows that yield milk and butter for Copenhagen; and the authorities on infant feeding tell us why. The brewers' grains make milk dangerous for babies."

The war savings committee declares that the use of foodstuffs for the drink trade has put up the price of food and that the expenditure on drink has wasted our "national working capacity" at the rate of 400,000,000 pounds during the war. That is equal to one-tenth of the cost of the war. The committee says that during the war to give two pounds a week for life to every British home that has lost a breadwinner during the war.

ENGLISH WAR COUNCIL MADE UP OF LAWYERS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, Feb. 22.—The war council of the British empire, over which Premier Lloyd George will preside, will constitute a supreme proof of the commanding influence which lawyers exercise in British affairs. For an overwhelming majority of the statesmen present will be members of the legal profession.

One of the lawyers who will attend the council has played a conspicuous part on the field of battle. General Smuts, who has been in command of the British forces in East Africa, is a member of the Cape Town bar, and served as state attorney of the Transvaal.

To find a lawyer-soldier of General Smuts' eminence in the annals of British soldiery it is necessary to go back to the Parliamentary war, in the seventeenth century, in which General Breton took a prominent part. A motion for the exclusion of all lawyers from the house of commons was discussed in 1649, but was defeated after a long debate.

When Washington Was Abused. In the Morris house on Aug. 12, 1793, Washington signed the Jay treaty with England, losing thereby most of his remnant of support in the house of representatives. Abuse culminated in the serious suggestion to impeach him. The constitution having for obvious reasons confined the treaty making power to the executive and the senate, Washington refused to grant the request of the house of representatives for the correspondence leading up to the treaty. The storm of indignation that followed did not spare even his personal character. "A Calm Observer" stated in a newspaper that Washington had stolen $4,750.

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson.
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is it right for a girl to let a boy put his arms around her when out riding if she does not allow him to kiss her?

(2) I have been going with a boy who has not a very good name. I quit him on this account, although he treated me very nice when we were together. Did I do the right thing?

(3) Do you think a boy shows very much respect for a girl if he takes her to the movies and they are out in a buggy?

(4) When a girl stops going with a boy should she return all the letters and jewelry he gave her?

(5) Will you please tell me what I can do to make a dimple in my chin?

DIXIE.

No, it is not right. You could not afford to risk your own good name by going with a boy who has not protected his name. A girl who has the lack of respect for a girl when she is in his presence. He should, however, ask for permission, and the girl should grant it.

She should certainly return all the letters and jewelry he gave her. It is not necessary to send back the letters. If she wants her letters back she should send him a note.

You cannot make a dimple in your chin.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) The kissing question bothers me, especially when I am alone. I resolve not to let a boy kiss me when I am with them and they want to kiss me. I cannot help myself. I do not know why this is. Is it a weakness?

I have been out a number of times with a fellow and I know he loves me. I learned to love him very deeply. He told me he loved me but now he hardly speaks to me and never phones any more. I would like anything if he would notice me. What shall I do?

(1) I am not popular with the opposite sex or with girls, either. Why? I am not pretty and my teeth are not attractive. Do you think this is the reason?

(2) I have a queer voice which is sometimes very high pitched and sometimes very low. What is the reason for this? It has been that way nearly two years. I am sixteen years old.

(3) You can help yourself. To let boys kiss you when you know it is not best is a weakness. Actions are the outgrowth of thoughts. When you are alone and thinking don't imagine that somebody is kissing you. Push aside such thoughts. When they come back tell yourself "no" to boys when they ask to kiss you.

(4) You have lost the boy. Now you must face the matter bravely. Turn your thoughts to something else.

(5) I think because you let boys kiss you, you are not more popular. Try being considerate of your girl friends. Be thoughtful and do some kind act for them every opportunity you have. If you simply say "good morning" and call them by name when you see them, they will like you better. Be reserved when you are with boys and make them understand that you are no longer a girl they can kiss. Personally counts more than teeth and beauty in making friends.

(6) Something may be wrong with your throat or nose. It would be well to have a physician examine you. When you go with and that she should be kissed for the man she loves. A fellow should save his kisses for the girl he loves, but he is not talked about like a girl is when she does wrong.

If there is anything that a fellow despises it is a flirt. I want to shield my sex and I think we should try to do right when we are alone. We should not go with every fellow that comes along.

Thank you for your interest.

Household Hints

DISHES THAT WERE SERVED BY "LADY WASHINGTON."

A number of recipes popular with Martha Washington and the women of her day are called in a little book called "Colonial Recipes," by Maude Bomberger.

As the writer says: "The recipe for a rich black cake is suggestive of a colonial wedding of the south that we can almost see the wide old kitchen at Mount Vernon, with its brick floor, and the grand old lady Washington, as she was called in those days, her recipe book in hand, giving orders to her faithful servants for the wonderful preparations going forward for the wedding of her granddaughter, Nellie Custis. This wedding was solemnized in the drawing room at Mount Vernon on February 22, 1799, the birthday that Washington spent on earth."

Here are the recipes for the "rich black cake" and other favorite dishes of "Lady Washington":

Black Cake—Take twenty eggs; separate the yolks from the whites. Beat the whites to a froth. Then work two pounds of butter to a cream, put the whites of the eggs to it, a spoonful at a time, until mixed. Then put two pounds of sugar, finely powdered, into it in the same manner. Then add the yolks of eggs, well beaten, two and a half pounds of flour and five pounds of fruit. Add to this one-fourth ounce of nutmeg, one-half pint of wine and some French brandy. Five and one-quarter hours will bake it.

Muffin Loaf—Four eggs; beat whites and yolks separately. Add one spoonful of butter rubbed into one quart of flour, one-half pint of yeast, one cup of warm milk. Set to rise at 12 o'clock noon for tea. Butter the loaf and bake in a moderate oven. Pound cake—One pound of sugar, one pound of flour sifted, one pound of powdered sugar, ten eggs well beaten separately. Put alternately into whites and yolks and the whites. Flavor with lemon, nutmeg and a tablespoonful of French brandy.

Hamburg Cream—Five eggs, one lemon, one-quarter pound sugar. Mix yolks and sugar and grate rind of the lemon with the sugar and yolks of the eggs. As soon as it comes to a boil stir the whites of the eggs well beaten and take quickly from the fire and serve in glasses.

Fritters—Make up one quart of flour with one egg well beaten, a large spoonful of yeast and as much milk as will make it a little softer than muffin dough. Mix it early in the evening. In the morning, when well risen, work in two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Make into balls the size of a walnut and fry a light brown in boiling lard. Serve with wine and sugar or molasses.

Filling for Cake—To two pounds of pulverized sugar add the juice of five oranges and the peel, grated, of these and the juice of three lemons. This must not be spread upon the cake until cold. This quantity will make two cakes and three layers in each.

Washing Curtains—To wash lace curtains well it is necessary to soak them first in a tub then after a good shake in a tub of cold water, with a tablespoonful of ammonia to each gallon, and if this becomes very black have a fresh supply. Then wash in the usual way in hot soap suds, and rinse in cold water. If a very bad color, boiling will do them good. The best plan for this is to put them in a linen bag and boil for twenty minutes. Rinse out in two lots of lukewarm water, and starch.

CHICKEN DISHES—Chicken with Creole Sauce—One pint boiled chicken, one can chopped tomatoes, one pint canned tomatoes, three sweet peppers (fresh or canned), one-fourth pound ham chopped fine, four tablespoons flour, salt, one-half teaspoon onion powder, one small onion chopped fine, two tablespoons butter or bacon drippings. Let simmer one-half hour slowly. Serve hot with mashed potatoes.

Chicken a la King—Stew large chicken until tender. Dice the nice parts, add half pound mushrooms and one red and one green pepper, one cup stock and cream, together, serve on crisp toast. This will serve six people nicely, and is fine to serve for club refreshments, etc.

ENGLAND INFESTED WITH WILD BIRDS; A NUISANCE [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, Feb. 22.—The intense cold which swept over England in the closing days of January, freezing over marshes, ponds and rivers, caused a great inland migration of all kinds of wild birds, a phenomenon rarely seen in winter here. Deprived of their usual feeding grounds the birds flew to the farm lands where they gave the farmers so much trouble. The shooting parties were organized to bring the birds down. Some birds sought the river mouths, always feeding places.

The feathered tribe first attacked the east coast and then moved inland, forcing over the brown fields. These were mostly gulls of various species, but occasionally rooks were seen and now and then flocks of old geese in their familiar V formation.

MEXICAN WOMEN FORM TEMPERANCE SOCIETY [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Merida, Yucatan, Feb. 22.—What is believed to be the first women's temperance society in Mexico has been formed here under the name of "Sociedad Femenina de Abstinencia," or Women's Society of Abstinence.

SAVE THE BABIES. These are authentic quotations from a pamphlet on babies by Dr. L. Bennett Holt of Columbia University, and Dr. Henry L. K. Shaw of Union University.

The simplest plan in preparing a bottle of baby's food is to use whole milk from a shaken bottle, diluted according to the child's age and digestion. Beginning on the third day, the average baby should be given three ounces of milk daily, diluted with seven ounces of water. To this should be added one tablespoonful of lime juice and two level teaspoonfuls of sugar. This should be given in seven feedings.

For feeding a week old baby will be given tomorrow.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. What Salts Doesn't Do. Is Rochelle salts, taken in a glassful of hot water before breakfast every morning, good to purify the blood when one has pimples on the face? It was written three years ago and the answer came out soon afterward. (P. A.)

Answer.—To begin with, pimples are no sign of impurity of blood. Rochelle or any other kind, in no sense purifies the blood. All that is done is to irritate the skin, and cause a rash. Finally, of course, vaccination has nothing to do with it. You need a monograph on pimples.

Sleeping in Underclothes. Should children sleep in underclothes that they have worn all day? Is it right to drink and use for cooking water from the hot water tank connected with the city water supply?

Answer.—By all means see that the children undress before going to bed. So far as health and hygiene goes, the water from the heater is as good or better than that from the faucet, for the heat may have destroyed pollution and killing the germs.

I read your column daily and find it full of valuable information. I don't like to give my twins castor oil. You suggest a more palatable substitute. Will you please mention it again? And what would you suggest for babies with coughs and colds? (Mrs. A. H. S.)

Answer.—One good substitute is liquid petroleum giving a baby a tablespoonful. Another is Aromatic Syrup of Rhubarb (called also spiced syrup of rhubarb), in the same doses for the same purposes as castor oil. For twins with a cough or a "cold" I would suggest a diagnosis by a good physician.

MEN AND SHOP

The Wants-to-be-Cynic had a new and interesting kind of a pipe cleaner. The Authorman admired it. "Where'd you get it?" he asked, as the Cynic held it out for closer inspection. "Oh, a little shop on B-St."

"I wish you'd get me one the next time you're by," requested the Authorman. "Sure thing," said the Cynic. "Why don't you get it yourself?" asked the Authorman's wife in the outspoken, puncturing way wives have.

He knows The Ropes. "Oh well," said the Authorman, "he knows the ropes. I'll be easier for him."

Sure said the Cynic, amiably according the ready support one man always gives another when attacked by a female, especially a wife. Aren't men funny that way? In their feelings about buying things I mean.

He'd Rather Dig in a Ditch. Give the average man his choice between going to town and doing an ordinary afternoon's shopping—say for instance, getting a few samples, matching some silk, buying a new pair of shoes, leaving some gloves to be cleaned, giving an order for some china to fill out a depleted set, and buying a few findings,—or two days hard labor in a ditch, and I'll wager he'd choose the latter.

WHATCHAMA COLUMN. Wives Again. A friend of ours came home one day last spring with a large, durable wife. She had a long nose and a short upper lip; a hard, a mole, a mustache and a jaw, ladies and gentlemen, that would make a chunk of chilled steel green with envy.

About the same time another friend trooped in with a small, compact, two gill creature who fiddled, fiddled and dawdled over everything she did with her specialty. Nero added while Rome was burning. She fiddled while the potatoes were doing the same thing.

Now we struck a middle ground. We got one neither tall nor short, dawning nor adorning, iron nor mush. We took her on in cold blood, after a consideration. She fits and we don't expect to take her off in Reno.

We favor the three-quarters length wife.

THE ONLY THING NEEDED. Marie—Edith is taking violin lessons. Marion—She is? Why, the poor girl hasn't the slightest ear for music!

Marie—I know; but she has beautiful elbows!

"We should all leave footprints in the sands of time," quoted the parlor philosopher.

"They would only show that some of us have been going backward," objected the mere man.—Chicago Herald.

WASHINGTON STOOD FOR TRUTH. Today we celebrate the birth anniversary of the father of our country, the man who, it is said, never told a lie. George Washington stood for truth.

We also stand firm for truth. We will never knowingly tell an untruth in our advertisements. We will never mislead you in printed words nor will we permit a sales person to mislead you by word of mouth.

We want you to have confidence in this store; to know that you or your children can buy merchandise here without fear.

When we announce a special sale for one day, the article advertised will positively go back to the original price on the day following.

In our end of the season clearance we will never state that an article "worth" so much is selling for a certain price. That article was worth the original price but at the end of a season it is never worth the full price and we will not so state. Our comparisons will be based on former selling prices.

Big businesses can only be based on truth. That first of all is the foundation of this firm and the sooner you realize this the quicker we will grow.

1—The husband who kisses his wife plentifully keeps out of divorce court.

2—The wife who kisses her husband sparingly does not cheapen the product.

3—Two kisses a day, husband and wife, and the other "hello," would do.

4—The thoroughly kissed wife will make any sacrifice for the man she married.

5—When you kiss your wife, you're saying "I love you." That's what she wants.

Note.—Following is Judge Graham's own statement of why and how a plentiful supply of hubby's kisses will keep the family out of the divorce court. Judge Graham has practiced his preachment so effectively in his court work that he has come to be nationally known as "The Great Reconciler." Thousands of unhappy homes made happy by his kiss recipe are to his credit.

By Thomas F. Graham (Superior Court Judge of San Francisco.)

When your wife and you fall out, don't strut about and shout. Don't growl at her, or scowl at her, or hiss her.

You will find it doesn't pay. Try your luck another way: Just take her in your arms and gently kiss her.

When your wife and you must fight, make her think she's in the right. Don't rush out to your club, where you will miss her.

Should a fight with wife start. You will play the big man's part. If you take her in your arms and gently kiss her.

The kiss of a husband is a pledge of his love for his wife. I have advised men to kiss their wives. I have not advised wives to kiss their husbands.

The kiss that a wife gives to her husband does not mean as much to the husband as the kiss that a husband gives to his wife.

To a husband a kiss is only a kiss. Man only wants to be loved. Particular about being perpetually told that he is being loved.

To a wife a kiss is more than the content merely with being loved. She wants to be continually told that she is being loved.

A husband is telling and retelling his wife of his love every time he kisses her. A woman is happy every time she is given a reaffirmation of her husband's love with a kiss.

A woman who is conscious of her husband's love will make all necessary sacrifices for her husband, will bear every trial willingly, will strive to avoid every quarrel. A woman is conscious of her husband's love when her husband kisses her frequently.

To many wives a kiss only means "good-bye." To others it is only the equivalent of "hello." But the kisses that are given when the husband is not either going or coming mean more. They are expressions of love, expressions for which every wife is constantly yearning.

I know of only one variety of kiss—the kiss of a pure man for a pure woman. I care not whether it be planted on the forehead, the cheek or the lips—the kiss of a husband to his wife is the pledge, the reaffirmation of his love. If more husbands would kiss their wives more frequently the judges who have to try divorce cases wouldn't be so far behind in their work. And the divorce lawyers would starve to death.

"She made a bit with me." "She makes a bit with most people. Always has a crowd dancing attendance upon her."

"She evidently knows how to punch her hits."—Pittsburgh Post.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of cantbrox, which can be obtained from any druggist, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisement.

The Highflyers

Some Rather Good News Concerning the Fortunes of Both Clyde and the Gerards.

"Well, Marge, I have news for you," announced Tom, framing his head in a crack of the kitchen door. "I am all attention." Marjory noticed that he had stopped for a reply.

"Clyde Jaynes has gone east to bring home his wife," he paused to note the effect of the bomb he had dropped. "The father told me today."

Marjory set the tea table as if afraid of dropping it. "So he married the girl that was the only manly thing he could do," she said after a pause.

"Will they live here in Fairport?" she asked. Tom, with his coat over his arm, was leaning against the kitchen table.

"Yes, Mr. Jaynes was communicative. He said he was going to build them a house, and he thought he had the plan of our cottage as well as any he had seen. He wants to come up and look it over thoroughly before deciding."

"That's certainly modest for a millionaire's son," remarked Marjory in a surprised tone. "Jaynes is pretty level headed and I imagine he is not going to start in any princely style."

Whatever Clyde receives will be a pure gift, for the young fellow is not worth his salt, though he has stuck strictly to business this last month. I must say I was surprised."

"That was because you were so interesting in your instruction," complimented Marjory. She had left her dinner in her interest in the conversation.

"His father got a complete set of bookkeeping books, duplicates of mine, and those Clyde was to have entire charge of. He could ask any questions, but he had to do all the work himself. We go over them together every evening and I point out his mistakes and show him how to correct them."

"If you have got him so he can do that in a month you have done pretty well," said Marjory. "Oh, he is stumbling along, but he is bright and he really wants to learn; that helps wonderfully."

"Is he going to be a bookkeeper?" asked Marjory. "He is going to be a bookkeeper," answered Tom. "He is going to be a bookkeeper," answered Tom.

"What do you mean?" asked Marjory, stopping in the beating of the frosting for the pudding she had just taken out of the oven.

"Mr. Jaynes called me into the office shortly after Clyde began his studies and told me he did not expect me to give time to Clyde for nothing," he added, and I intend to promote you just as fast as you are capable of advancement."

Then he told me to assist Gillett certain hours to do his bookkeeping. He said that at the head of the shipping department, and that is "way out of my line. He seems to want me to have a general working knowledge of that branch of the business. It looks pretty good to me," Marjory beamed her delight.

"He is not a man to say much, but he does not forget a favor. Nor that we did much for Clyde, but it happened that we were able to accommodate them and he knew we were glad to do it. I hope I shall like that little wife. If that was his picture that I saw, I think I shall," she added after a pause.

"There is a fine lot near here; perhaps Jaynes will build their cottage in our neighborhood. Is dinner ready? I am hungry." Tom rode away to heat up his hat and coat. (To be continued.)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. What Salts Doesn't Do. Is Rochelle salts, taken in a glassful of hot water before breakfast every morning, good to purify the blood when one has pimples on the face? It was written three years ago and the answer came out soon afterward. (P. A.)

Answer.—To begin with, pimples are no sign of impurity of blood. Rochelle or any other kind, in no sense purifies the blood. All that is done is to irritate the skin, and cause a rash. Finally, of course, vaccination has nothing to do with it. You need a monograph on pimples.

Sleeping in Underclothes. Should children sleep in underclothes that they have worn all day? Is it right to drink and use for cooking water from the hot water tank connected with the city water supply?

Answer.—By all means see that the children undress before going to bed. So far as health and hygiene goes, the water from the heater is as good or better than that from the faucet, for the heat may have destroyed pollution and killing the germs.

I read your column daily and find it full of valuable information. I don't like to give my twins castor oil. You suggest a more palatable substitute. Will you please mention it again? And what would you suggest for babies with coughs and colds? (Mrs. A. H. S.)

Answer.—One good substitute is liquid petroleum giving a baby a tablespoonful. Another is Aromatic Syrup of Rhubarb (called also spiced syrup of rhubarb), in the same doses for the same purposes as castor oil. For twins with a cough or a "cold" I would suggest a diagnosis by a good physician.

WASHINGTON NEVER TOLD A LIE, BUT EVERYBODY ELSE IN THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN TRYING TO MAKE UP FOR GEORGE'S INACTIVITY IN THAT DEPARTMENT EVER SINCE. I DON'T LIKE TO CRITICISE A MAN FOR THE WAY HE BROUGHT UP HIS CHILD; BUT GEORGE SHOULD HAVE GIVEN THE KID A BETTER TRAINING IN LONG-DISTANCE RUNNING SO HE COULD ESCAPE THE EVILS OF AFTER-DINNER SPEECHES, SHORT SKIRTS, MOVIE MYSTERIES, HAT BOYS AND UKALELES. Following his first amazement at beholding her had come a fantastic explanation of her presence—for a moment or two it had seemed as if the fates had taken heed of his yearnings and had sent her to him out of the dusk—wild fancies, like these, bother men who are much alone.

CHAPTER II.

The Ambush.

Alaire Austin, like most normal women, had a surprising amount of endurance, both nervous and muscular, but, having drawn heavily against her reserve force, she paid the penalty. During the early hours of the night she slept hardly at all; as soon as her bodily discomfort began to decrease her mind became unruly, and it was not until nearly dawn that she dropped off into complete unconsciousness. She was awakened by a sunbeam which pierced her lanky shelter.

It was still early; the sun had just cleared the valley's rim and the ground was damp with dew. Somewhere near by an unfamiliar bird was sweetly trilling. Alaire listened dreamily until the bird-calls changed to the air of a familiar cowboy song, then she sat up, quietly startled.

David Law was watering his horse, grooming the animal meanwhile with a burlap cloth. It was a beautiful blood-bay mare, and as the woman looked it lifted its head, then with wet, trembling muzzle caressed its owner's cheek. Undoubtedly this attention was meant for a kiss, and was as definitely conferred as any woman's favor. It brought a reward in a lump of sugar.

"Good morning," said Mrs. Austin. Law lifted his hat in a graceful salute as he approached around the edge of the pool, his spurs jingling musically. The mare followed.

"You have a fine horse there." "Yes'm. Her and me get along all right. I hope we didn't wake you, ma'am."

"No. I was too tired to sleep well." "Of course. I heard you stirring about during the night." Law paused, and the mare, with sharp ears cocked forward, looked over his shoulder inquisitively. "Tell the lady good morning, Bessie Belle," he directed. The animal flung its head high, then stepped forward and stretching its neck, sniffed doubtfully at the visitor.

"What a graceful bow!" Mrs. Austin laughed. "You taught her that, I presume."

"Yes'm! She'd never been to school when I got her; she was plumb ignorant. But she's got all the airs of a fine lady now. Sometimes I go without sugar, but Bessie Belle never does."

and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be successfully handled by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind men have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturer guarantees it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by People's Drug Co., 21 E. Milwaukee.

"And you with a sweet tooth?" The Ranger smiled pleasantly. "She's as easy as a rockin' chair. We're kind of sweethearts. Ain't we, kid?" Again Bessie Belle tossed her head high. "That's 'yes,' with the reverse English," the speaker explained. He would not permit her to help with the breakfast, so she lay back watching her host, whose personality, now that she saw him by daylight, had begun to challenge her interest. Physically Law was of an admirable make—considerably over six feet in height, with wide shoulders and lean, strong limbs. Although his face was schooled to mask all but the keenest emotions, a pair of blue-gray, meditative eyes, with a whimsical fashion of wrinkling half-shut when he talked, relieved a countenance that otherwise would have been a trifle grim and somber. The nose was prominent and boldly arched, the mouth was thin-lipped and mobile. In his face there was nothing animal in a bad sense. Certainly it showed no grossness. The man, despite his careless use of the plains vernacular, seemed to be rather above the average in education and intelligence. On the whole, she rather resented the good impression Law had made upon her, for on general principles she chose to dislike and distrust men. Rising, she walked painfully to the pond and made a leisurely toilet.

Breakfast was ready when she returned, and once more the man sat upon his heels and smoked while she ate. After a while she remarked: "I'm glad to see a Ranger in this country. There has been a lot of stealing down our way, and the association men can't seem to stop it. Perhaps you can."

"The Rangers have a reputation in that line," he admitted. "But there is stealing all up and down the border, since the war."

"The ranchers have organized. They have formed a sort of vigilance committee in each town, and talk of using bloodhounds."

"Bloodhounds ain't any good, outside of novels. If beef got scarce, then cowboys would steal the dogs and eat 'em." He added, meditatively, "Dog ain't such bad eatin', either."

"Have you tried it?"

Mr. Law nodded. "Did you join the Maderistas for excitement?"

"Mostly. Then, too, I believed Pancho Madero was honest and would give the peons land. An honest Mexican is worth fightin' for, anywhere. The peonados are still struggling for their land—for that and a chance to live and work and be happy."

Mrs. Austin stirred impatiently. "They are fighting because they are told to fight. There is no patriotism in them," said she.

"I think," he said, with grave deliberateness, "the majority feel something big and vague and powerful stirring inside them. They don't know exactly what it is, perhaps, but it is there. Mexico has outgrown her dictators. They have been overthrown by the same causes that brought on the French Revolution."

"The French Revolution!" Alaire leaned forward, eying the speaker with startled intensity. "What do you know about the French Revolution?"

Reaching for a coal, the Ranger spoke without facing her. "I've read a good bit, ma'am, and I'm a noble listener. I remember good, too. Why, I had a picture of the Bastille once." He pronounced it "Bastille," and his hearer settled back. "That was some calypso, now, wasn't it?" A moment later he inquired, ingenuously, "I don't suppose you ever saw that Bastille, did you?"

"No. Only the place where it stood." "Sho! You must have traveled right smart for such a young lady." He beamed amiably upon her.

There was something winning about this young man's modesty, and something flattering in his respectful admiration. He seemed, also, to know his place, a fact which was even more in his favor. Undoubtedly he had force and ability; probably his love of adventure and a happy lack of settled purpose had led him to neglect his more commonplace opportunities and sent him into the Ranger service. This man had been denied what she termed education; therefore she decided to put one in his way.

"Do you like to read?" she asked him.

"Say! It's my favorite form of exercise." Law's blue-gray eyes were expressionless, his face was bland. "Why?"

"I have a great many books at Las Palmas. You might enjoy some of them."

"Now that's nice of you, ma'am. Maybe I'll look into this cattle-stealin' in your neighborhood, and if I do I'll sure come borrowin'."

"Oh, I'll send you a boxful when I get back," said Alaire, and Dave thanked her humbly.

Later, when he went to move his mare into a shady spot, the Ranger chuckled and slapped his thigh with his hat. "Bessie Belle, we're going to improve our minds," he said aloud. "We're going to be literary and read 'Pilgrim's Progress' and 'Alice in Wonderland.' I bet we'll enjoy 'em, eh? But—doggone! She's a nice lady, and your coat is just the same color as her hair."

Where the shade was densest and the breeze played most freely, there Dave fixed a comfortable couch for his guest, and during the heat of the forenoon she dozed. But one cannot sleep well with a tropic sun in the heavens, and since there was really nothing for her to do until the heat abated, Alaire, when she awoke, obliged the Ranger to amuse her.

As the morning progressed Law proved himself an interesting companion, and in spite of the discomforts of the situation the hours slipped rapidly. Luncheon was a disagreeable meal, eaten while the arroyo baked and the heat devils danced on the hills; but the unpleasantness was of brief duration, and Law always managed to banish boredom. Nor did he

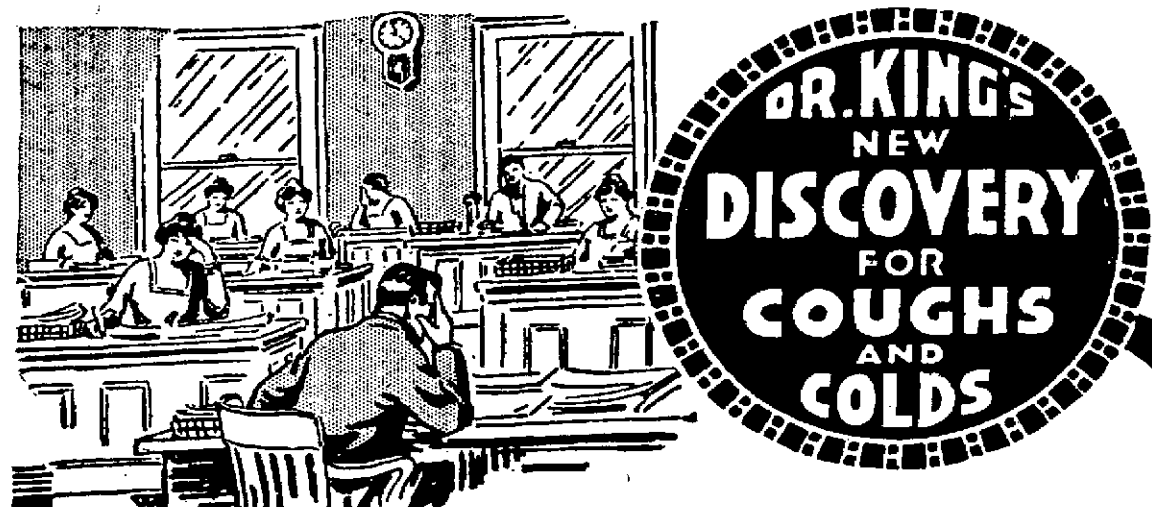

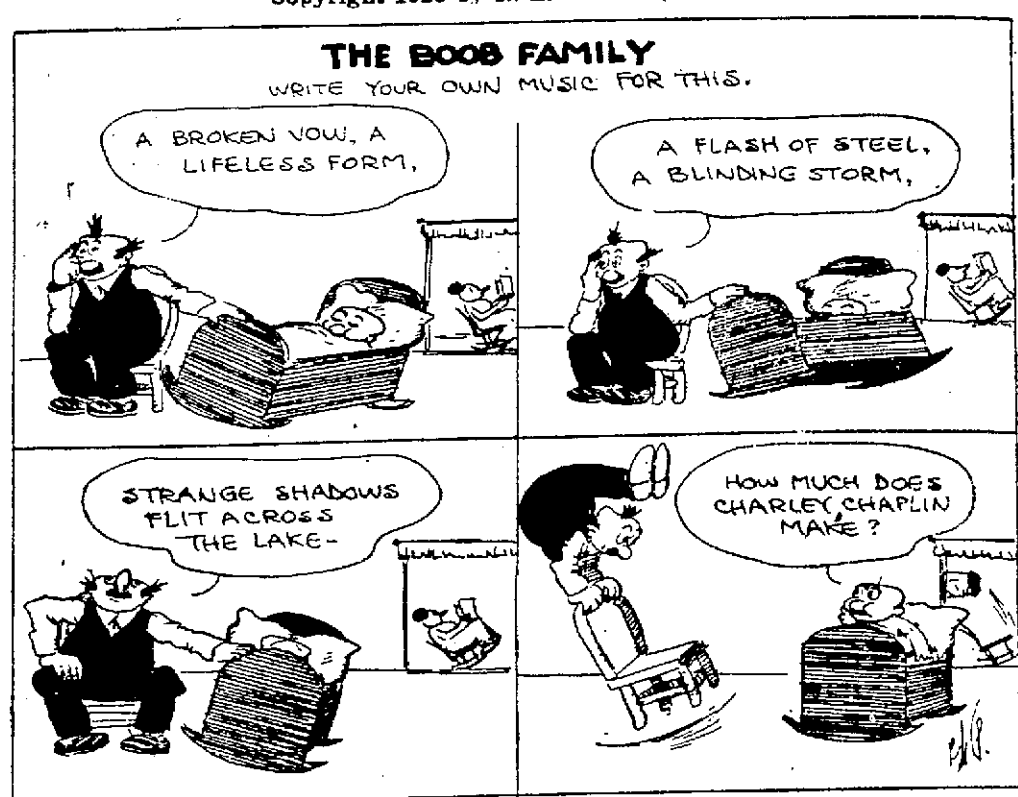

DALTON VALENTINE

"Oiga! Hands Up, Both of You!" seem to waste a thought upon the nature of that grim business which brought him to this place. Quite the contrary, in the afternoon he put his mare through her tricks for Alaire's edification, and gossiped idly of whatever interested his guest.

Then as the sun edged to the west and Mrs. Austin became restless, he saddled Bessie Belle and led her down the gulch into a safer covert. Returning, he carefully obliterated all traces of the camp. He watered the ashes of the fire, gathered up the telltale scraps of paper and fragments of food, and then when the place suited him fell to examining his rifle.

Dinner Stories

A French soldier had been shot in the leg, and was taken to the hospital for treatment. For some time the surgeon probed and searched the wound, until at last the sufferer demanded impatiently what he was doing.

"I am trying to find the bullet," was the reply. "What stupidity!" cried the patient. "Why, I have it in my pocket!"

Mark Twain was a good sailor, and he often spent happy weeks cruising with his old friend, H. H. Rogers, in his steam yacht, the Kanawha. Once they were caught south of Cuba in a heavy sea, the effect of a long-drawn and violent gale. The Caribbean was heaving at its worst. For once in his life Mark Twain was upset by the rolling and pitching of the ship. He leaned over the lee rail and clung desperately.

"Mr. Clemens, can't I get you something?" asked a steward, solicitously. "Yes," Mark drawled, earnestly; "yes, get me a little island!"

Amusements were few and far between in the western town, consequently Tommy was overjoyed when a traveling circus came along. His father, however, demurred against so much dissipation, not on account of morals but expense. "Five cents to see a circus!" he said scornfully. "And here it was only last week you went to see the eclipse of the moon. Do you want to be one perpetual round of gayety?"

The quite-looking boy at the foot of the class had not had a question so the teacher propounded to him this one: "In what condition was the patriarch Job at the end of his life?" "Dead," was the calm response.

FRENCH SOCIALIST WINS COUP WITH LANDLORD

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Paris, Feb. 27.—Pierre Brizon, a Socialist member of the chamber of deputies, who was recently suspended for fifteen sittings for using violent language, has just won a victory over his landlord, Guy de Teramond, a well known novelist. The landlord, pleading scarcity of coal, had stopped the central heating plant of the house which the deputy occupies. The tenant demanded four francs a day compensation; the landlord offered half a franc.

Brizon determined to move, but it is contrary to French law for a tenant to remove his furniture until the landlord's bill is paid. Brizon gathered up fifty of his friends, took them into his flat at night, and had the furniture in a van and away before the landlord was aware what was going on. The fifty Socialists, headed by an orchestra of frying pans and spoons, marched off triumphantly behind the van to the deputy's new quarters.

The sockets of the eyes, for instance, were larger than I ever met with before and the upper part of the nose broader. All his features were indicative of strong passion, yet, like Socrates, his judgment and great self command made him appear a man of different class in the eyes of the world."

Vegetable Week—THE SQUASH.

Author's Prefatory Note—In setting aside this week as vegetable week, we do not wish to be misunderstood. After the appearance, yesterday, of the first article of this series, we were called on the telephone by a number of non-vegetarians (as well as written quite plain-spoken notes by a number of others) and accused of trying to inaugurate a vegetarian movement. THESE ACCUSATIONS ARE ENTIRELY WITHOUT GROUND. We are sorry that our motives have been thus questioned. In the remarks prefacing the first article of this series, yesterday, we thought we made it plain that this series is to treat educational and informatively of six of our most interesting and foremost vegetables. We mean to let no personal emotions creep into these articles. (That was one of the great things about Shakespeare: he mirrored life as he found it.) We have no idea of making a vegetable eater out of anybody who does not now eat vegetables. We do not mean to question the intelligence of anybody who eats anything else. People may eat old iron and old rubber for all we care. All we know is, that in spite of criticism, we are going ahead with this vegetable series as planned. Dogs may bark, if they please.

Article proper—THE SQUASH. For want of space, we find it necessary to postpone our discussion of the squash until tomorrow.

ROCKFORD WILL PLAY CARDINALS SATURDAY; CANCEL LEVIS' GAME

Forest City Five Scheduled for Second Appearance of Season Locally —They Have Floden.

Because of the northern Illinois high school tournament at Rockford, Manager George V. Caldwell of the Lakota Club Cardinals has been able to arrange for a game here with the Rockford city team for Saturday night, having left the team scheduled to play George Levis' All Stars until a later date.

An announcement to bring joy to the hearts of local fans is that Manager George V. Caldwell of the Lakota Club Cardinals has been able to arrange for a game here with the Rockford city team for Saturday night, having left the team scheduled to play George Levis' All Stars until a later date.

According to present plans, Dalton will play the guard position across from Mike Knapp. Levis and Jack Mitchell will be at the forward with Mayes at center and Field ready to go in as necessity requires. Floden has hopped over to Rockford and will meet Mayes at center. Johnson and Tierney, the Chicago men, and Murphy and Carmichael are the Forest City's other four. The getting together of Floden and Mayes is expected to settle a question which the fans have been asking for the last three or four weeks. Which is the better player? Floden made a big hit here and as the result of his great floor playing there are many who cannot understand why the change was made. It is argued that with his long basketball experience and his ability to fight he makes a far better player for a team which uses the Cardinal style than does Mayes, who is new at basketball and who, friends of Floden aver, can't hold a candle with the Rockford lad. Anyway, the question should be settled Saturday night. Dalton no doubt will be pitted against "Supe" Murphy to tame him. "Supe" plays an extremely hard game and in his excitement does not stop at any trick to gain an edge. The result has been generally "rode" hard on the local floor. Dalton can handle him, however, but it will be a battle royal.

BULLDOGS DESERVE APPLAUSE OF WORLD

Prowess of Lovejoy's Warriors Passeth All Understanding—Anguish in Ranks of Vanquished.

There will be no more of the omnipotent Bulldogs as no longer possible for human comprehension. Their ferocity is primordial, their strength untrammelled, in cunning they are an aggregation of Marauder and night hawk. A name heretofore they are to be known as the Dinosaurs. Last night they waded knee-deep through the last hopes of their rivals, the Terriers, outnumbered two to one and undaunted one to two. Three men, automations in their accuracy, Samsons in their strength, veritable demigods in their mastery of their foes, saved the honor of their depleted band from the taint of defeat at the hands of six valiant but vulnerable cohorts of the enemy.

Victory also came to the depressed Bloodhounds Tuesday night, they fought the Terriers and snatched two games from the very teeth of their ferocious antagonists. Buoyed up to transcendent heights of daring in the

WILL MURRAY COME BACK WITH GIANTS?

Next summer Jack Murray, ex-Giant, intends to show that he can still go the big league pace. Murray left the Giants at the close of the 1915 season and played with Toronto in the International league. At the time he left the Giants many thought that Jack was still good for several years in fast company, and Jack is going to prove it next season.

BADGERS HAVE HOPE TO DEFEAT ILLINI

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—Dr. McDaniel and his squad representing the University of Wisconsin, will leave Friday evening for Urbana, Ill., where they will meet the Suckers in a basketball game on Saturday night. As much depends upon the result of the contest, the Badger coach has been working his men hard during the past few days to have them fit for the contest. The same line-up as that which faced Ohio State last week will be used against Illinois.

The Badgers have high hopes of winning the game as they trimmed the down-state team decisively when they met earlier in the season at Madison. A victory will mean that Wisconsin has a fighting chance for the conference title. If Illinois wins, however, Minnesota will have the title sewed up. In the game played early in the season the Badger guards held Illinois to three field goals. If they can repeat at Urbana, Wisconsin should have little trouble in taking the contest.

Chandler will start at center with Olsen at one forward. Who will play the opposite forward is at present undecided. In the last two or three games Carroll, Bauer and Carlson have been used. In the North-western and Ohio games Hemming was also used at forward. Dr. McDaniel has been using all of them in practice this week so it is certain that more than one man will play the position. Carlson and Meyers will start at the guards. In the first Illinois contest they performed in sterling fashion. Also in the game Saturday against Ohio they held the opposing forwards to three baskets. Simpson and Edler will be taken as the reserve men.

The Badgers are playing in fine form as has been shown by their practice this week. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings they met the freshmen in scrimmage and had little trouble in scoring. The first year men used the Illinois play but could not get by the guarding of Carlson and Meyers. Chandler and Olsen scored heavily over the freshmen guards Thursday night the men will be ready to enter the game. They will play in Chicago, Friday evening, and proceed to Urbana on Saturday morning.

Les Darcy will probably have to go to court to collect his ring earnings in this country for one year at least. E. Timothy O'Sullivan, the man who risked from two to five years for kidnapping in Australia when he spirited Darcy past the military authorities, has been given "the gate" by the eccentric pride of Matiland, and O'Sullivan has retained John B. Stanchfield to protect his quarter share of all Darcy's earnings.

JIM SHECKARD, ONCE STAR OUTFIELDER, RETURNS TO CHICAGO CUBS AS COACH

Jim Sheckard.

Jim Sheckard, once the star of a classy Cub outfield, is returning to the Cubs, but not to take up his old job. He has been selected by Fred Mitchell, the new Cub boss, as the smartest ball player he can find to instruct the Cub youngsters. Mitchell believes that under Sheckard's direction Cy Williams, Max Flack and Leslie Mann will develop into the outfield stars of the game. Sheckard will have about the same job with the Cubs that Mitchell formerly had with the Braves.

FIRST TRACK MEET WITH NOTRE DAME

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—Notre Dame will be the first opponent of the University track squad this season. Coach Jones and his squad will leave for South Bend Friday evening to be on hand for the meet with the Catholic athletes on Saturday. Final trials for places on the team were held during the past week and Coach Jones has announced his entrants.

Archie Mucks has decided to enter the indoor meets this season and it is very doubtful whether he will take part in the outdoor meets in the spring. At the present time he is being employed as a night watchman at the State Capital and is in no condition to enter the contests.

Coach Jones has had very little material with which to work this season and as a result he is very optimistic as to the showing of the men. The places left by the graduation of Williams, Harvey, Merrill and Benish have been hard to fill. The new men appear to have the ability but lack experience.

The meet should be a victory for the Badgers if the men perform up to standard. Garner Smith is expected to score heavily in the dashes while Scharf and Burke should count in their events. The pole vault and shot put events will see all new men appearing for the Badgers.

The following are the entries:—40-yd. dash—Captain Smith, Casey, Peterson and Kreuz.

Quarter mile—Field, Mallacher, Cox, Hardell and Hixson.

Half mile—Casey, Boardman, Donaldson and Hardy.

One mile—Schardt, Dayton, Elsom and Patterson.

Two mile—Golden, Burr and Johnson.

Hurdles—Burke, Albright, Heintzen and Andrews.

High jump—Nelson, Williams, Mobley and O'Connell.

Pole Vault—Hill, Enders, Wilder and Schroeder.

Shot Put—Chase, Kreuz, Hansen and Termanson.

Relay—Smith, Burke, Field and Mallacher.

Two new managers will make their debut in the major leagues this season. The American league will present Jack Barry as the leader of the Boston club. He will attempt to fill Bill Carrigan's shoes and lead the world's champions to another pennant. Barry will be the only playing manager in the league.

In the National league Fred Mitchell will handle the Chicago club. Mitchell will direct the club from the bench.

As a player Barry ranks among the best in the league. He has the distinction of being the only player who has taken part in six world series championship games. Four of these were while he was a member of the Philadelphia Americans and two with the club which he is to lead the coming season.

lings of the Boston Nationals before coming to Chicago.

The other managers of the National league who are veterans are John J. McGraw of New York and Stallings of Boston. In the American league are Hugh Jennings of Detroit, Clark Griffith of Washington, and Connie Mack of Philadelphia. Miller Huggins took hold of the St. Louis Nationals in 1913, and Bill Donovan piloted the New York Americans and Wilbert Robinson the Brooklyn Nationals a year later.

The American league has two managers who start their third season as leaders. They are Lee Fohl of Cleveland and Clarence Rowland of Chicago. Pat Moran of the Philadelphia Nationals, also is on his third lap. Fielder Jones, who piloted the St. Louis Americans, and James J. Connelley who led the Pittsburgh Nationals, are classed as among the late leaders, having received their appointments in 1916. Both, however, have had previous experience as managers. Christy Mathewson also became a manager last year when he went to Cincinnati, after years of service under McGraw.

First off, Darcy has repudiated the match signed for by O'Sullivan calling for a ten-round bout between Darcy and Gibbons at Milwaukee on April 10.

O'Sullivan says he has full power to act and that he did not get the notice advising him of his dismissal until after he signed the Milwaukee papers for Frank Mulhern. In the face of this Darcy vows that he notified O'Sullivan that he was through three days before O'Sullivan placed his name to a set of articles calling for a $25,000 purse and one-third of the pictures.

Darcy wants to manage his own affairs as he did in Australia. It is the popular fashion in that country for fighters to do their own business. Snowy Baker always advised American boxers to come there without sponsors and Darcy has never got over that habit. Mick King, his old trainer and friend, stated publicly in Sydney that Darcy would slip away from O'Sullivan the moment he got his American bearings and Mick seems to be right. Darcy has slipped away, but O'Sullivan with Stanchfield at his back, will fight to recover the promised 25 per cent of the Darcy earnings.

R. L. Wolfe, assistant instructor in economics, has suggested to the Harvard council that it immediately pass a resolution that athletics be suspended and all intercollegiate contests be canceled until the imminence of war is past. He said if due faculty did this it would be considered unwarranted oppression and would fail of its intended moral effect; if the move came from the students it would be a display of patriotism.

"ONCE A MARINE ALWAYS A MARINE" A NEW SLOGAN

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Washington, Feb. 22.—"Once a Marine Always a Marine" is the loyal answer of hundreds of ex-soldiers of the sea in response to the recent telegrams from marine corps headquarters asking their return to the colors. Many are re-enlisting and others, who are handicapped by domestic or other responsibilities, are, for the present, doing a remarkable work in obtaining of men for their old corps, according to recruiting officials.

Upwards of 10,000 trained men are discharged from our military and naval services yearly and, under ordinary circumstances, one-third of them immediately re-enlist. Of the remaining 70 per cent are eligible for re-enlistment. It is therefore estimated that the United States would have at least 150,000 trained regulars in civil life ready for duty at the first call.

UNINVADED FRANCE LOSES POPULATION

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Paris, Feb. 22.—The uninvaded departments of France showed a decrease in population of 206,000 in 1915, according to complete statistics that are not yet official but may be taken as approximate. These figures do not include the invaded territory, nor do they comprise the death losses in the army.

The births and deaths for 77 departments in 1913 and 1914 and of 76 departments in 1915 out of a total of 89 departments were: In 1913, deaths 588,809, births 604,454; 1914, deaths 647,549, births 594,222; 1915, deaths 644,301, births 382,486. The war has thus deprived France of a third of its average births and added ten per cent to its normal death rate in addition to the killed on the battle field.

GERARD TAMMANY'S CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR OF NEW YORK?

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) New York, Feb. 22.—James W. Gerard, recalled American ambassador to Germany, can be Tammany's candidate for mayor of New York this fall

if he wants to. Tammany leaders indicated here today. The beam has been started and it remains for Gerard to squish or endorse it when he gets home. He refused a similar offer on his recent visit to the United States, saying he would not think of deserting his Berlin post at such a critical time. Mayor Mitchell, present incumbent, probably will be the fusion candidate as Gerard will oppose if he makes the fight.

MEXICO TO INCREASE ITS POSTAL CHARGES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Mexico City, Feb. 22.—It is announced that an increase in interior postal rates ranging from twenty-five to one hundred per cent has been authorized and shortly will be put in effect. Cosme Hinojosa, postmaster general, has received authority to arrange with the United States for the resumption of the international money order service.

FIRE FORCES STEAMER TO RETURN TO PORT

New York, Feb. 22.—The Ward Line steamship Monterey which sailed last night for Havana but was forced to turn back by a fire, in her hold, returned to her dock here today. Her captain reported the fire out. The extent of the damage had not been estimated.
